Abstract

Modern conditions of the current economic activities are characterized by the integration processes and regional economic associations' establishment.

The authors offer the regional economic associations analysis under the conditions of the World economics functioning in the frames of the integration processes. The meaning and the content of the integration process is described. The basis of the analysis is the results of the integration processes investigation on the territory of the Customs Union between Russia, Belorussia and Kazakhstan (CU) and in the Euro Asian Economic Union (EAEU). The authors give a review of the similar features of the economic development of the integrated countries of the European Union and the countries that constitute the Customs Union. The principle of economic development of integrated countries and the influence of high- tech industries on the level of economic development is analyzed.

The authors come to the conclusion that integration is the objective development of civilization and it can be built on the basis of mutual respect and justice in the field of the results distribution.
